

An Essentially Canadian Industry, Fur Farming Is Developing At Rapid Rate, East And West

Fresh indication is continually being given of the remarkable manner in which Canada's newest industry, that of fur farming, is in its broadest conception, is taking upon the popular imagination and exciting fur followers as well as practically broadening the scope of its activities. With surprising frequency announcements of most of success attending the efforts to bring under domestication some new aspects of Canada's fauna, whilst at the same time a number of individuals, visiting the future status of the industry and the profits to be derived therefrom, are going to look the swelling army of Canada's fur farmers. Governments anticipating the same possibilities and recognizing the wisdom of intelligent development, early stabilization are beginning to take steps for the encouragement of the industry and to put in effect measures for the achievement and maintenance of a high standard.

Prince Edward Island has been progressive in this respect, as is nature in the birthplace of the industry. A research experimental station, with special reference to the industry, established through the co-operation of provincial and federal governments to prosecute work for the benefit of breeders all over Canada, very recently Ontario, according to recent announcement, has given its official endorsement to fur farming as a legitimate manner. It is to establish and operate a fur farm under expert supervision for the encouragement of domestic parties of all of the wild fur bearers of the province. The aim of the government is to assist prospective fur raisers by extending to them a fund of valuable information for their use, and selling them really first-class stock for obtaining a profitable provincial department of agriculture of Alberta has announced that it plans putting into operation a fur marketing service designed to meet the requirements of small operators for a medium of marketing, and which will not only serve the needs of the industry in the north, but those of Alberta's growing ranks of fur farmers.

Meanwhile signs of the expansion of the newer phases of the industry are to be observed on every hand. The popularity so rapidly achieved by fur raising has been almost everywhere, and all over the country, sections of marshland previously considered worthless are being transformed into profitable mink ranches. The industry of chinchilla rabbit farming, so recently inaugurated, promises to be one to reach considerable proportions. Establishments for raising this little animal, introduced from Europe and proved through the experience of Saskatchewan to thrive particularly well in the British Columbia climate and make a richer, more valuable pelts, there are now to be found in Ontario and British Columbia.

On the Pacific coast, and in fact throughout Western Canada, fur farming is exhibiting a remarkable growth. Residents of that broad territory, getting away from the monotony of sections of agriculture and entering more extensively into the gentler phases, have adopted the raising of mink, fox-burrows with characteristic vigour and enthusiasm. On Vancouver Island, where less than eighteen months ago there were not half a dozen fur farms, there are today about forty. A similar popularity it is to be observed throughout the entire province.

Fur farming, as a broad, multi-faceted activity developing out of fur farming, is an essentially Canadian industry whose era is not coming. Yet already, in expert opinion, its future is assured and it will be time becoming as staple as wheat, grapes, raising or wheat farming. Fur production will slowly become revolutionized and instead of the wild pelts which go from the Dominion all over the world being brought in from the Arctic tundra, they will come from small, intensive fur farms, raised by men living under the pleasantest of social conditions.

Factors In Milk Contamination

Proper Procedure to Follow in Order to Produce Clean Milk

In the report of the comparatively recently organized division of epidemiology of the Dominion experiment stations, covering the year 1924, it is shown that the factors that stand out prominently in the contamination of milk are, first, carelessly cleaned pails, and, secondly, the health and cleanliness of the animal itself. Pails should be carefully cleaned and well dried. Care should also be taken to see that no dried manure particles get into the pail during milking. Dr. A. Grant Leitch, the Dominion agricultural bacteriologist, who is responsible for the report, which he has set out in application to the publication branch of the agricultural department, Ottawa, deals with other factors that may cause milk contamination. Tests have been made at the central experimental farm to ascertain how the milk of infected and statistical tables are supplied showing to what degree milk may be contaminated by unsanitary conditions. The following are the results: A clean pail, a covered pail and a clean animal, remarks, the doctor, are the three things that are most important. A study is in addition given of bacteria produced by a litter-bearer in milk, of the influence of frozen soil and of the setting. Cleanliness is not to be gotten in agriculture the same as in other things.

Record Cattle Shipments

Canada's Revenue For 1925 From British Markets Over $12,000,000

With the close of 1925, Canada's exports to the United Kingdom for the year will be considerably in excess of 100,000 head, constituting a record. The monthly average will be over 10,000. In many of the years last will be over $12,000,000 mark. These predictions are made by an Ottawa authority on the basis of a total of over $1,000 head up to the 15th of October.

The British admiralty some time ago took over control of certain wharves not then required for other purposes, so that there is no wharfage now available for the discharging of Canadian cattle.

In the near future it is hoped that through the negotiations between the Canadian and British authorities for a highly specialized system of ocean cattle transportation that the present delay in the early delivery of cattle to British ports.

Record Movement Of Wheat

Grain Marketed on C.P.R. Lines For The First Of Seventy-five Bushels Per Acre

More than 125,000 bushels of wheat, 80 per cent of which has graded contract, has been marketed in the prairie provinces during the month of September, according to railway reports. This is a record movement. Wheat marketed in the prairie provinces during September along the Canadian Pacific Railway were hauled into broad and loaded on standard delivery wagons, each wagon containing one thousand bushels, and travelling at the rate of five miles per hour. It would take eight and a half weeks for these wagons to pass a given point. The marketing of grain on the C.P.R. in September amounted to 62,269 bushels. In twenty-five nine-hour working days this is at the rate of 75 bushels per second.

British Cattle Raisers Worried

Foot and Mouth Disease Has Again Broken Out

Cattle raisers are worried over a recurrence of the foot and mouth disease from small, intensive fur farms, raised by men living under the pleasantest of social conditions.

Dairying Makes Progress

Nine New Creameries Established In Saskatchewan This Year

"That there is confidence in the future is shown by the fact that nine new creameries have been established in Saskatchewan this year. While the majority of these are in the northern and central portions of the province, three are situated in the south, in the heart of the grain growing section, where a few years ago dairying was not by any means considered an important branch of agriculture," said P. G. Kidd, dairy commissioner for the province.

"In addition to the new creameries, five new cheese factories have been built and have commenced operations and two creamery companies have installed in their plants equipment for making cheese. As in the case of the creameries, the new cheese factories are situated in the districts ranging from the extreme north to the southern part of the province.

"It is worthy of note that most of them have been established at points from which a large quantity of cream was previously shipped. In this way some of the milk which was formerly sent to the west coast is now made into cheese.

Obstacles In Way

Of Walker's Plan

Canadian Director's Immigration Scheme Commented On By London Paper

The Nation, a London weekly, discusses the migration scheme of J. Bruce Walker, Canadian director of European immigration, who recently, in outlining his programme for obtaining emigrants for the Dominion, suggested that centres might be set up in the United Kingdom for training in agriculture of the surplus of the unemployed and through these training centres 25,000 men could be absorbed in Canada within a year.

"If Bruce Walker should be justified in his underlying aim, parties in England will rejoice," the Nation says, but the paper infers that the carrying out of the scheme may not be so simple because of the Dominion's attitude as to the sort of immigrants desired.

The Canadian immigration authorities have been rigorously selective," the Nation continues, "and they certainly will not relax under the new system. Walker's plan, given in its entirety, the desire of Britain's best must be stimulated. For Canada no other policy is conceivable, but Bruce Walker's plan gives urgency to the need for a considered emigration policy of Great Britain."

Health Of Our Livestock

Good Progress Has Been Made In The Control Of Disease

There is much of a comforting nature in the report for 1925 of the health of animals brought to the department of agriculture at Ottawa. The veterinary director general, Dr. George Hilton, in reviewing the contagious disease situation in Canada, shows that the animal diseases that a few years ago were troublesome have been banished from the country. There has not been detected in any part of Canada for years. No outbreak of disease has been reported among breeding horses for five years, and there is every reason to believe the livestock does not exist in this country. Only one outbreak of anthrax was reported in the year, and that was in British Columbia and was brought speedily under control. The maul is extremely rare in Canada, its virulent action long children has been practically eradicated. Suspect of glanders had been promptly quarantined in unprogressive settlements of Alberta and Saskatchewan, no longer necessary and has proved effective, but close supervision is being kept to prevent recurrence. The disease of glanders has been free of the country. "Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Quebec and British Columbia are free of glanders, but isolated cases are reported in Nova Scotia and Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The disease has been reported, especially in the last-named province near the international boundary. All Canada has been practically free of glanders for many years.

Good progress is being made in the control of bovine tuberculosis. Livestock breeders and owners are now commencing to realize that it is poor business to maintain diseased herds and to purchase animals from questionable sources. When the report was published there were 1,475 fully accredited tuberculosis-free herds in Canada and 1,316 undergoing the process of accreditation.

There is also a tuberculosis-free area in the Carleton Place in Manitoba, which is being dealt with under the restricted area plan. All cattle in an area surrounding the county of Hamilton, Chatham and Kent, in the province of Quebec have also been tested by veterinary inspectors and resident doctors. There is every reason to believe that this area will be a tuberculosis-free area by the time the next annual report is issued.

Making Progress In Fight Against Rust

Scientists Make Further Discoveries In Complicated Struggle

The rust work carried on for some years at the University of Saskatchewan is assuming new phases in the plant breeding experiments conducted in the several breeding sections of the held husbandry department. The end in view is a wheat that will have all the good qualities of the best strain of Marquis wheat which will also be highly resistant to all the rust strains found in Canada. During the past season a large number of crosses were made with Marquis on a highly resistant strain of fumigine. At Minneapolis there has already been developed a highly rust resistant cross between Marquis and fumigine, which is known as Marquis-fumigine. This cross is of good quality, high yielding, combining in a high degree the milling qualities of Marquis, as well as the resistance and strength of fumigine, and the flour is too yellow to be satisfactory to the millers. It is hoped to have a cross of Marquis and fumigine 44 that a strain may be produced which will have the four color resistance and other desirable qualities of Marquis-fumigine 44.

It will take many years and many tests in country plots and in the laboratory before a strain can be selected and tested before the desired results are obtained. In the future, the experiments in the laboratory in the future will be very clear that he has no assurance that a high quality wheat immune to all rust strains may ever be discovered.

City and Country Co-operation

The City Should Work Actively For Rural Prosperity

Some years ago city people used to ridicule the country people, and country people felt jealous of city dwellers. While much of this exchange of sentiment was fairly good natured, yet it often went so far as to create antagonisms that threatened all co-operation. Today, the cities and country regions are discovering that they are interdependent. It is as absurd for city and country to quarrel, as for a merchant to quarrel with his customers, or for a business man to quarrel with his help. The time is fast coming when a city and the country around it will be considered as indivisible units, with identical interests. The city will work actively for rural prosperity to increase its own business, and the rural people will work for the prosperity of their centre to provide stronger support for their enterprises.—Bismarck News.

SHOULD KEEP THE PUBLIC POSTED

NOT long ago two farmers in the Gem and Duchess districts appeared in court charged with breaches in the Seed Act, in that they sold alfalfa seed contrary to the regulations as set forth in the act.

These farmers were tried and fined. There can be no fault found with the prosecution of any individual who violates any of the laws of his country, but in this case it appears to have been ignorance of the law, rather than an attempt to witfully disregard it.

Referring to this case the Bassano Mail says editorially:

"The Mail believes that the parties responsible for prosecuting these cases would have been better advised if an educational campaign to instruct the farmers had been undertaken. "Making an example" of a man in order to get free publicity and to impress others with the warning is an undesirable method for government officials to adopt."

The trouble with all our governing bodies lately is that they rely too much on the generosity of the press of the country to keep the public posted on changes made in our laws and in new laws placed on our statute books. There is an old saying that "what's everybody's business is nobody's business." This being the case it too often happens that new laws made and changes made in old ones, are never brought to the attention of the public in the proper way. The Review agrees with the paper quoted, when it says that making an example of a man in order to get free publicity is an undesirable method for government officials to adopt.

While we are well aware of the fact that ignorance of the law is not held as an excuse for breaking it, yet we believe that any governing body which makes new laws and changes old one, should be held responsible for keeping the public posted on such legislation. There is one very good way of doing this and that is by using the advertising columns of the newspapers. That's the way business men, companies and corporations keep the public posted. Why not governments?

ARE THEY TO BLAME?

THE Ottawa Journal is about right when it defends politicians against the aspersions cast upon them by speakers representing different organizations at their conferences. While it is true that a few politicians go wrong, we honestly believe that the large majority of men who enter public life are even more anxious and desirous of doing the right thing than many of their critics.

It is a well known fact that many a politician is hampered in the pursuance of the proper course because of the demands interference and influence of the people themselves. The public as a whole is selfish, narrow and uncompromising when it comes to questions affecting their own personal or community affairs. For this reason the politician is too often made the goat because the public says in effect: "you are our representative and you must do as we say."

POOL PLAN WORKING WELL THIS FALL

THE advantage of belonging to the Wheat Pool has been effectively displayed this fall.

The price of wheat dropped like a plummet when the big Canadian crop started going on the market.

The farmers who had to sell at that time and who were not pool members are out of luck. Those who sold and are members of the pool are still going to get a nice return.

The Wheat Pool gives the members security, comfort of mind, and freedom from the dangers of speculation, while giving them the best price procurable for their grain.

A Dreaded Scourge

1918 Influenza Epidemic Took Toll of 20 Millions

New census figures indicate the mortality of the influenza epidemic of 1918 throughout the world was nearly 20,000,000, the worst influenza epidemic of the most recent black death of the middle ages. Dr. E. O. Jordan, bacteriologist of the University of California, told the American Public Health Association at St. Louis.

"And if influenza were to descend upon us again tomorrow," he continued, "we should see public health workers and students of the disease as little if it all better equipped to deal with it than we were seven years ago."

Practical difficulties in the way of administering efficient vaccination on a world-wide scale seem insuperable, he said. Two marks have only a limited applicability. Chlorine and similar gases have not proved of definite prophylactic value.

"I believe, however, that something can be done to lower the attack rate in favorably situated small groups of individuals, and in the case of influenza, in the part of the season, however," he said.

"The minimizing of contact seems to present to offer the best chance we have of controlling the ravages of influenza. Judging by the past nothing is more certain than that influenza seems have another visitation of this destructive infection. There are lines of direct transmission, and the virus is present today with some hope of rendering ourselves better prepared to cope with the next epidemic."

Negro Progress

Cultivated Negroes Receive Prizes For Art and Literature

Some notion of the progress that cultivated negroes are making may be gathered from the recognition of the Army Signal Corps for art and literature. Seven hundred negro writers and artists contributed to the contest, which included the names of novelists, dramatists, short story writers, poets and painters of some originality and power.

The award for the best play, "The Broken Bread," went to Willis Rudolph of Washington, D. C. The best story, "High Yellow," to Dr. Randolph Fisher, also of Washington; for the best essay, to Markham M. Bonner, Massachusetts. "On Being Young—A Woman—and Colored," and "A. H. Hester," of South Carolina. The best illustration for the best illustration, to the Porter Gazette.

Prize Winning Animals

The Lamb Fair Impresses the Value of Quality

It has long been known in the prize-winning animals at the larger fairs as "quality" contests. The latest development of policies operated by the federal livestock branch, is holding to correct the mistake of the past. It does that the most perfect sheep as seen in the show ring is most valuable both from the standpoint of the producer and of the consumer.

Many sheep raisers are having impressed upon them as never before that the profit that may be realized from the flock bears a close relationship to the quality of the breeding stock and therefore of their product.

The lamb fair is proving the common sense of the better sire, and it is becoming easier each year for the owners of pure bred flocks to find ready sale for their first-rate lambs.

Sheep Buying Plan

A scheme, whereby farmers in British Columbia may procure sheep at a reduced price, is being proposed by Hon. T. J. Harcourt, minister of agriculture for British Columbia. Under this scheme, large flocks of sheep would be purchased in the United States and sold to small holders and farmers, who would be able to get from $5 to 200, according to the requirements. All sheep purchased would be graded.

A Giant Generator

Continuous Current of 60,000 Volts Developed For Machine in France

A generator capable of furnishing a continuous current of 60,000 volts—the highest voltage now known in the world—has been constructed by two French scientists and will be placed in the laboratory of the Sorbonne. With this machine, its builders believe, it will be possible to attack the most difficult problems of electricity, as never before, and if the experiments are successful it may open the possibility of even more powerful generators.

French scientists, in fact, are hoping to develop a current of 60,000 volts with which they think it would be possible to disintegrate matter artificially.

Speaking of the new generator, the writer, Jean Cabannes, a well-known scientist, says:

"There already are transformers capable of raising the tension to 2, 60,000 volts, but with these the current is alternate and, moreover, these appliances are to be found not only in the laboratory but established in the electrical industry. The laboratory, contrary to industry, demands a current which is continuous."

The Crookes ampoule in particular, which produces the X-rays, is fed by extremely low voltages. The production of this current depends on the intensity of the rays; in other words, the length of the arc between the electrodes. Therefore the tension the electrical industry uses is the worst of these rays. Medical men believe more and more in the use of the X-rays in the treatment of cancer.

"Mail men their appliances have of no more than 50,000 volts, and Paris can supply only one of these instruments among its hospitals. But the construction of a generator of 60,000 volts is intended to reproduce it in large numbers."

Inoculating Alfalfa

Necessary to Inoculate the Seed of Alfalfa Before Seeding

When alfalfa is to be sown on land on which neither its root sweet clover nor alfalfa has been grown before, it is necessary to inoculate the seed before seeding in order to supply the young plants with the bacteria which are necessary for their growth. A new bulletin on "Alfalfa in Maryland," distributed by the publication league department of agriculture, Delaware, tells how this inoculating is done. The proper culture for alfalfa inoculation may be obtained, free of charge, from the Dominion bacteriological, central experimental farm, of another way of introducing bacteria from the soil to the seed of alfalfa, by the use of an old alfalfa ball, at the rate of from 10 to 20 pounds per acre. This method, however, requires considerable labor and may be the means of spreading disease.

Course includes agriculture, civil engineering, mathematics, mining, metallurgy, physics, meteorology, English, French and business administration. Gymnastic training was offered this year.

Time Work

"What are you feeding to those hogs?" asked the professor asked.

"Corn, professor," the grateful old farmer, who knew the learned gentleman by sight replied.

"Are you feeding it wet or dry?"

"Dry."

"Don't you know if you feed it wet the hog can digest it in one-half the time?"

The farmer gave him a quizzical look. "Now see here, professor," he said, "I know how you calculate a hog's time in work!"

Gave Famous German Inventor His Start

Dr. Gustaf Ralen At Fourteen Rigged Up Clever Contrivance

Difficultly in evaluating his fondness for a contrivance, Dr. Gustaf Ralen, of the 18th Nobel prize, winner of the 18th Nobel prize, told Dr. Ralen, a boy, living in a humble cottage in Sweden, was required to do early, but he found it hard to do. A device of his was a clock which was required to be added as an alarm mechanism with a piece of double line the place of the bell. He combined the clockwork with a little friction wheel covered with emery paper that began to rotate 15 minutes before the alarm went off. Priction against the rough surface of the paper lighted a match.

The match was attached to a rod that swung over a gasoline lamp, the cap of which was loosened, the lamp by another contrivance constructed from a couple of empty wine spoons and a piece of string. Over the lamp was established in the contrivance clock prepared the night before. When the slumbers of the child were broken, the alarm was interrupted by the alarm going off the room was lighted and his coffee was being.

During Dr. Ralen's experiments the beacon light that he lost his sight through the contrivance, but his genius, however, did not seem to suffer as he has since given the world a matchless clock, and still continues to do the work of his plan to spite of his blindness.

Density Of The Atmosphere

Thicket Near Earth, Decreasing Rapidly In Higher Altitudes

The best available evidence shows that practically all of the atmosphere is contained in the lower 10 miles of the earth, not more than 200 miles.

Even at a distance of 45 miles above the earth, the atmosphere is still to be almost imperceptible. The density of the atmosphere decreases rapidly in the higher altitudes. At the atmosphere were at the present sea level density from bottom to top, it would be all contained in the lower 10 miles of the earth. One-half of the mass of the atmosphere is within three and one-half miles of the surface of the earth, three-quarters of the mass of the atmosphere is within seven and one-half miles and seven-eighths of the mass of the atmosphere is within ten and one-half miles.

Thus the new earth has but a thin coating of air only about one-fourth as thick as the diameter of the earth, its crust, or if we consider the atmosphere only in its appreciable extent, about forty miles above the earth, only about one-tenth of the diameter of the earth, a mere coating not thicker, relatively speaking, than its skin of an apple of ordinary size.

Care Of The Greenhouse

Careful Work on Insect Pests Is of Prime Importance

The care of vegetables and flowers under glass has become an industry of great importance. It is estimated that in the United States alone, the value of the produce raised in greenhouses is over $100,000,000. The care of these crops is a very important one, and the grower must be careful to protect them from insect pests.

These crops are subject to innumerable insects, the ravages of which can be reduced to a minimum. It is to reduce them as far as possible that the bulletin entitled "Insects Affecting Greenhouse Plants" was prepared by Dominion Entomologist Arthur Gibson, and his assistant W. A. Ross. As the authors say, much of this loss may be avoided if growers adopted the remedies which are recommended in the bulletin, which is freely obtainable by application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, from which it may be obtained free of charge.

The bulletin contains a list of the insects which are most likely to be found in greenhouses, and a list of the remedies which should be used to destroy them. It also contains a list of the insects which are most likely to be found in greenhouses, and a list of the remedies which should be used to destroy them.

Does Not Change After It Emerges From Chrysalis

Scolding the house fly is probably the commonest of all insects—that it is found in every part of the world, except the Polar regions, and that it is always obnoxious to us. It is, it is said that its history is no fit the house fly.

Children—and grown persons, too

Children—and grown persons, too—are under the impression that little flies are young flies and big ones old flies. This is a mistake, for a fly never grows. A fly begins as a fly, which turns into a fly, which turns into a fly, which turns into a fly.

Relics Of Ancient Mayas

Find of Explorer Are Now In British Museum

Relics of the ancient Maya civilization, to the number of about 700, which were unearthed recently by Mr. A. Mitchell Hodge, the explorer in the hitherto unknown interior of British Honduras, are now in the British Museum in London.

Most of them are fragmentary examples of pottery. Among them is a miniature head of a man whose face might have been modelled to look so strikingly "modern" is its effect.

It appears from the character of the finds, however, that Mr. Mitchell Hodge may well consider that he has found the Maya's last civilization which may enable us at last to solve a great mystery, for the beginning of the Maya is as yet a mystery.

Among the finds he has brought to the museum is a pottery vessel which suggests that printing was not unknown to the Mayas, and it is certain that they produced pottery with moulds.

Factory Turns Out Speeches

Pennsylvania Firm Sold Three Million Last Year

A writer in a United States paper has received a letter from a Pennsylvania factory for the manufacture and sale of after-dinner and other speeches. Before receiving this he had 300,000 of the magnitude of the industry. The manufacturer of the factory sold three million speeches in 1924 and evidently expects to double the output in 1925. The thought is appalling.

We hear much of free speech, but the company claims to have sold 300,000 speeches at prices ranging from 25 cents to $40 each. Millions of five are sold for $2, and ten for $3, and twenty for $5. As to their quality: "The data is accurate, the language clear, forceful and original." What more could be said of this utterance? It is not speech but a forced confession, to relieve anyone embarrassed by a set phrase to add a blasphemy. The longest first was filled in "one hundred ways to introduce a speaker."

A Good Story

If the Turks who are trying to push John Bull out of Mosul were not "young Turks," they would probably know better than the old Turks that John is the champion of the underdog—Hammurabi.

Frailty Of Men Of Strength

It is Found That the Strongest Frequently Die At Early Age

Twenty-five or thirty years ago Eugene Sandow was not only the strongest man in the world, but he was unquestionably the finest specimen of physical manhood of his day and generation. Every boy who looked upon his magnificent physique developed long to be like him. Now, at the age of 55, he is dead; the effects of an unusually strenuous life years ago are still to be seen in his end.

One week ago Thomas Huxford, known as "the strongest man in the world," who was touring Canada a few months ago, died quite suddenly. There was also Ed. Marx, who was Sandow's immediate successor. He too heroically in his two with his naked hands, smashed chests with a blow of his fist, stood on a high trestle and with a harness on his shoulders lifted an elephant off the ground. He died of consumption in his early forties.

The belief among men is generally the object of every admiration and the object of the admiration of the other sex. The very fact that he neglects taking the care of himself that a less powerful man would do.

The Proof of the Pudding

Big Wheat Yields Reported In Many Districts

It is an old saying that the proof of the pudding is in the eating. By the same logic, the proof of the opportunity which Canada offers to its settlers is in the returns which farmers already in the country are getting from their investments in the land.

The statistics for the home land, as a whole are impressive, they do not carry the same personal conviction as the example of what has been done by individual settlers. Hereunder are a few such examples as published in the newspapers in the districts in which the crops have been harvested. They tell their own story:

A big field of wheat is reported from the farm of E. Hamilton, Crooked Lake, Alberta. The crop averaged 45 bushels to the acre from a field of 44 acres. The wheat was the Red Horse variety—Edmonton, Alberta, Journal.

C. W. Johnston, of Deloraine, Manitoba, threshed a crop of wheat this season that averaged about 45 bushels to the acre. The usual average in the district is from 20 to 25 bushels per acre—Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, Graphic.

The average average of wheat yields in the Aberdeen, Sask. district shows records according to information received here. On some farm wheat has run from 40 to 45 bushels per acre on summerfall. Oats have run up to 110 bushels to the acre, averaging 50 bushels per acre in the district around—Saskatoon Star.

Mystics of Islam Are Removed By Government Decree

One of the most dramatic and far-reaching reforms in Turkish life has gone into effect almost unnoticed by the outside world.

The government's recent decree closing all monasteries in the republic and permitting only secular schools has thrown out into the world some 20,000 Turkish monks and dervishes—mystics of Islam, who are to be re-educated by the state.

The decree is a part of a movement for any other pursuit in life. The summary decree at the same time removed from the ranks of its of its strongest and wildest classes, the dervishes.

These dervishes are divided into three classes—"whirling," "singing" and "whispering." They live largely on the ignorance and superstition of the Turkish peasants, who have them to be invoked with divine assistance, can easily be removed.
